

AND YOU ARE?

Author: Danijela Bojanić

Level: lower levels

Time: about 10 minutes

Aims: country / nationality adjectives, introduction / social phrases, personality adjectives, jobs

Materials: colour stickers

Procedure:

- Individually, on colour stickers students write the following things: name of a person they would like to be, his / her nationality, sex, job, place and three adjectives to describe 'themselves'.
- After that they mingle and introduce themselves to as many students as possible taking on the role they have made up.

Acknowledgement: This activity was presented by Mark Andrews in one of his teacher training sessions held for secondary school teachers.

* This activity can be used as an ice-breaker both at the very beginning of the school year and in its midst for the sake of making the atmosphere more relaxed.

* It is short; it provides mingling around and total physical response.

* Shy students can more easily express themselves being in other people's shoes.

* The activity brings the real world into the classroom.
